NORTH KOREA: Important Government Meeting Scheduled

North Korea's legislature reportedly will convene soon, possibly as early as next week. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] the opening of a Supreme People's Assembly meeting. [REDACTED]

Comment: The Assembly probably will ratify the IAEA safeguards agreement that P'yongyang is scheduled to sign today in Vienna. It may also try to resolve the constitutional problem that arose last month when Kim Chong-il was named Supreme Commander of the Korean People's Army—a position that under the Constitution should be held by the president. The Assembly may separate the two positions or create a ceremonial post for the senior Kim, opening the way for Kim Chong-il to be named president. [REDACTED]
